These policies are intended to manage risks identified in such a way that opportunities to deliver the Company's objectives are achieved. The Company's risk management takes place in the context of day-to-day operations and normal business processes such as strategic planning and business planning. Management has identified each risk and is responsible for coordinating and continuously improving risk strategies, processes and measures in accordance with the Company's established business objectives.

Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company's principal financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents and loans payable. The primary purpose of these financial instruments is to finance the Company's operations. The Company has other financial instruments such as receivable, trade and other payables and related party receivables and payables, which arise directly from its operations. The main risks arising from the use of these financial instruments are credit risk, liquidity risk, currency risk and market risk. Management reviews and approves the policies for managing each of these risks which are summarized below.

Foreign Currency Risk. The Company's foreign exchange risk results primarily from movements of the Philippine peso against the US dollar with respect to US dollar-denominated financial assets. The Company's transactional currency exposures arise from its trade receivables and advances from customers which are denominated in currencies other than the Company's functional currency. The Company periodically reviews the trend of the foreign exchange rates to address its exposure in foreign currency risk and maintain dollar accounts with different banks and converts to peso only when needed.

Credit Risk. Credit risk represents the loss that the Company would incur if counterparty failed to perform under its contractual obligations. The Company has established controls and procedures in its credit policy to determine and monitor the credit worthiness of customers and counterparties. The Group's present policy to give priority to clients that make advance payments on product sales. Balance of receivable from clients are collected a few days after completion of shipments via letters of credit. This credit policy reduces credit risk

Treasury controls and procedures are in place to ensure that sufficient cash is maintained to cover daily operational and working capital requirements, including debt principal and interest payments. Interest Rate Risk	Pls. see item 2 above	Pls. see item 2 above
Currency Risk	Pls. see item 2 above	Pls. see item 2 above
Market Risk	Pls. see item 2 above	Pls. see item 2 above

(b) Group

Briefly describe the control systems set up to assess, manage and control the main issue/s faced by the company:

The Company's subsidiary, Marcventures Mining and Development Corp is subject to the following risk:

Risk Exposure	Risk Assessment (Monitoring and Measurement Process)	Risk Management and Control (Structures, Procedures, Actions Taken)
Exploration, Development & Operations Risk	There are numerous hazards and risks normally encountered in the exploration, development, and production of nickel. These include and are not limited to unusual and hindering geologic formations, erosion, unfavorable weather conditions, flooding and other occurrences that may arise out of the drilling and removal of material. Any such occurrence may cause damage to mines and other production facilities, which may result in environmental damage, and legal liability.	The company has in place its Environmental Protection and Enhancement Plan which has resulted in structures built to prevent siltation and untoward flooding of the mine site, a Safety and Health Program, and a Crisis Management Team in place.
Risks in the Estimation of Ore Reserves and Mineral Resources	The evaluation of the Company's ore reserves and mineral resources is established on the results and estimates of several geological and exploration works as well as rigorous studies conducted by competent geologists and mining engineers. Nonetheless, the reported figures for ore reserves are only estimates and are therefore not precise calculations.	The Company conducts in-fill drilling to validate the estimates further, and conducts a continuous exploration program to continually increase its estimated mineral reserves.
Volatility of commodity Prices	Significant declines in the price of nickel may render exploration, development, and production activity uneconomical until the price recovers. Life-of-mine estimates may have to be recalculated. Such conditions may result in a material and adverse effect on the financial performance of the Company	The Company can enter into longer term, fixed price contracts with buyers to mitigate this risk.
Exchange Rate Risk	There can be no assurance that: (a) the Peso will not be subject to continued appreciation or volatility; (b) the current exchange rate policy will remain the same; (c) the Government will act when necessary to stabilize the value of the Peso, or that any such action, if taken, will be successful. Since the Company will earn its revenues in dollars, a significant depreciation in the dollar may adversely affect the financial viability of mining operations.	The Company periodically reviews the trend of the foreign exchange rates and seeks advise from financial advisors as necessary to address risk.
Weather	Extended rainy seasons may limit extraction and haulage. The company has measures and plans in place that can increase daily production rates when weather hampers extraction and haulage activities	Buffer equipment is in place to increase the equipment complement of any particular shift. Additional shifts will also be employed in order to meet production targets. However, these can only mitigate the effects of the weather on production and haulage to a certain degree.

L. CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY INITIATIVES

Discuss any initiative undertaken or proposed to be undertaken by the company.

MARC is steadfast in the belief that mining can and should be done in a responsible manner.

The activities of MMDC, its wholly owned subsidiary, are governed and shaped by the principle of Sustainability that the use of resources today, must not compromise the needs of tomorrow. This is reflected in the way MMDC operates. MMDC began its environmental and social development programs as early as 2009, two years before government regulations required the company to do so.

Since then, MMDC has forged strong and productive partnerships with local communities, which it continues to nurture today. Constant dialogue and consultation with local partners ensures that the programs and activities it implements address the primary needs of each of the communities in which MMDC operates. MMDC believes that with the continued implementation of these environmental and social development programs, it will be able to help build thriving communities, where residents enjoy benefits brought about by growth and development, which will last long after mining operations have ceased.
