APMPC is the owner of Alumina Mining Philippines Inc. (AMPI) and Bauxite Resources Inc. (BARI). AMPI holds MPSA 179-2002 VIII (SBMR) with an area of 6,694 Hectares located in Motiong, San Jose De Buan and Wright, Province of Samar issued on December 5, 2002. BrightGreen Resources Holdings Inc.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of BrightGreen Resources Holdings Inc. (a subsidiary of RYM Business Management Corp.) (the Company), which comprise the statement of financial position as at June 30, 2017, and the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the period January 11 to June 30, 2017, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as at June 30, 2017, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the period January 11 to June 30, 2017 in accordance with Philippine Financial Reporting Standards (PFRS).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Philippine Standards on Auditing (PSA). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants in the Philippines (Code of Ethics) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to the audit of the financial statements in the Philippines, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with PFRS, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with PSA will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, these could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with PSA, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

The Company is a subsidiary of RYM Business Management Corp. (the Parent Company), a holding company registered and domiciled in the Philippines.

The Company owns 100% interest in BrightGreen Resources Corp. (BGRC), a company incorporated in the Philippines and engaged in mining business. On July 1, 1993, the Philippine Department of Environment and Natural Resources approved BGRC's application for MPSA No. 015-93-XI (SMR) covering an area of approximately 4,860 hectares located in Carrascal and Cantilan, Surigao del Sur. BGRC is undertaking its continuous exploratory drilling program to block mineral resources at indicated and measured category.

The registered office address of the Company is at 4th Floor, Citibank Center, 8741 Paseo de Roxas, Makati City.

On January 30, 2017, the Board of Directors (BOD) approved the proposed plan of merger between the Company and Marcventures Holdings, Inc. (MHI) by virtue of which, MHI will be the surviving entity and the Company as the absorbed entity. The merger is expected to increase the combined mineral resource of Marcventures Mining and Development Corporation, the subsidiary of MHI. The proposed plan of merger is subject to approval by the stockholders.

The financial statements were prepared in connection with the application for proposed merger with the SEC.

The financial statements of the Company as at and for the period January 11 to June 30, 2017 were approved and authorized for issue by the BOD on July 28, 2017.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared in compliance with the Philippine Financial Reporting Standards (PFRS). This financial reporting framework includes PFRS, Philippine Accounting Standards (PAS) and Philippine Interpretations from International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee issued by the Philippine Financial Reporting Standards Council and adopted by the SEC, including SEC pronouncements.

Measurement Bases

The financial statements are presented in Philippine Peso, which is the Company's functional currency. All values are in absolute amounts unless otherwise indicated.

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared on a historical cost basis. Historical cost is generally based on the fair value of the consideration given in exchange for an asset. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the transaction date.

The Company uses market observable data to the possible extent when measuring the fair value of an asset or a liability. Fair values are categorized into different levels in a fair value hierarchy based on inputs used in the valuation techniques as follows:

- Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognized in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

Further information about the assumptions made in measuring fair value is included in Note 7, Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies.

Adoption of New and Amended PFRS

The Company adopted the following new and amended PFRS which became effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017:

- Amendments to PAS 7, Statement of Cash Flows - Disclosure Initiative – The amendments require entities to provide information that enable the users of financial statements to evaluate changes in liabilities arising from their financing activities.
- Amendments to PAS 12, Income Taxes - Recognition of Deferred Tax Assets for Unrealized Losses – The amendments clarify the accounting for deferred tax assets related to unrealized losses on debt instruments measured at fair value, to address diversity in practice.

The adoption of the foregoing new and amended PFRS did not have any material effect on the financial statements of the Company. Additional disclosures have been included in the notes to financial statements, as applicable.

New and Amended PFRS Not Yet Adopted

Relevant new and amended PFRS which are not yet effective for the period ended June 30, 2017 and have not been applied in preparing the financial statements are summarized below.

Effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018

- PFRS 9, Financial Instruments – This standard will replace PAS 39, Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement (and all the previous versions of PFRS 9). It contains requirements for the classification and measurement of financial assets and financial liabilities, impairment, hedge accounting and derecognition.

PFRS 9 requires all recognized financial assets to be subsequently measured at amortized cost or fair value (through profit or loss or through other comprehensive income), depending on their classification by reference to the business model within which they are held and their contractual cash flow characteristics.

For financial liabilities, the most significant effect of PFRS 9 relates to cases where the fair value option is taken: the amount of change in fair value of a financial liability designated as at fair value through profit or loss that is attributable to changes in the credit risk of that liability is recognized in other comprehensive income (rather than in profit or loss), unless this creates an accounting mismatch.

For the impairment of financial assets, PFRS 9 introduces an “expected credit loss” model based on the concept of providing for expected losses at inception of a contract; it will no longer be necessary for there to be objective evidence of impairment before a credit loss is recognized.

For hedge accounting, PFRS 9 introduces a substantial overhaul allowing financial statements to better reflect how risk management activities are undertaken when hedging financial and non-financial risk exposures.

The derecognition provisions are carried over almost unchanged from PAS 39.

Under prevailing circumstances, the adoption of the foregoing new and amended PFRS is not expected to have any material effect on the financial statements of the Company. Additional disclosures will be included in the notes to financial statements, as applicable.

Financial Assets and Liabilities

a. Recognition

Financial assets and liabilities are recognized in the statement of financial position when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provision of a financial instrument. Financial instruments are initially recognized at fair value. In the case of regular way purchase or sale of financial asset, recognition and derecognition, as applicable, is done using settlement date accounting. The initial measurement of the financial instruments, except for those classified at fair value through profit or loss (FVPL), includes transaction costs.

“Day 1” Difference. Where the transaction price in a non-active market is different from the fair value of other observable current market transactions in the same instrument or based on a valuation technique whose variables include only data from observable market, the Company recognizes the difference between the transaction price and fair value (a “Day 1” difference) in the profit or loss unless it qualifies for recognition as some other types of assets. In cases where use is made of data which is not observable, the difference between the transaction price and model value is only recognized in the profit or loss when the inputs become observable or when the instrument is derecognized. For each transaction, the Company determines the appropriate method of recognizing the "Day 1" difference amount.

b. Classification

The Company classifies its financial assets at initial recognition under the following categories: (a) financial assets at FVPL, (b) held-to-maturity (HTM) investments, (c) loans and receivables and (d) available-for-sale (AFS) financial assets. Financial liabilities, on the other hand, are classified as either financial liabilities at FVPL or other financial liabilities at amortized cost. The classification depends on the purpose for which the financial instruments were acquired or incurred and whether or not the instruments are quoted in an active market. Management determines the classification of the financial assets and financial liabilities at initial recognition and where allowed and appropriate, reevaluates such designation at every reporting date.

As at June 30, 2017, the Company does not have financial assets and liabilities at FVPL, HTM investments and AFS financial assets.

Loans and Receivables. Loans and receivables are financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturities and that are not quoted in an active market. These are not entered into with the intention of immediate or short-term resale and are not classified or designated as AFS financial assets or financial asset at FVPL. Loans and receivables are included in current assets if maturity is within 12 months from reporting date. Otherwise, these are classified as noncurrent assets.

After initial measurement, loans and receivables are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less allowance for impairment, if any. Amortized cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and any transaction cost which are directly attributable in the acquisition of the financial instrument. The amortization is included in profit or loss.

This category includes cash in bank.

Other Financial Liabilities at Amortized Cost. Financial liabilities are classified in this category if these are not held for trading or not designated as at FVPL upon the inception of the liability. These include liabilities arising from operations or through borrowing.

After initial recognition, other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

This category includes accrued and other liabilities and due to related parties.

c. Derecognition

A financial asset (or where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is derecognized by the Company when:

- the right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired; or

- the Company retains the right to receive cash flows from the asset, but has assumed an obligation to pay them in full without material delay to a third party under a "pass-through" arrangement; or
- the Company has transferred its right to receive cash flows from the asset and either (a) has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the assets, or (b) has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risk and rewards of the assets, but has transferred control over the asset.

When the Company has transferred its right to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, and has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset nor transferred control of the asset, the asset is recognized to the extent of the Company's continuing involvement in the asset. Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset, if any, is measured at the lower of original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the Company could be required to pay.

A financial liability is derecognized when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or has expired. Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of the new liability, and the difference in the respective carrying amount is recognized in profit or loss.

d. Offsetting

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position if, and only if, there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognized amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. This is not generally the case with master netting agreements where the related assets and liabilities are presented gross in the statement of financial position.

e. Impairment of Financial Assets

Loans and Receivables. The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or group of financial assets is impaired.

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or group of financial assets is impaired. A financial asset or group of financial assets is deemed impaired if, and only if, there is objective evidence of impairment as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the asset (an incurred "loss event") and that loss event (or events) has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset or group of financial assets that can be reliably estimated. The carrying amount of the impaired account is reduced to the extent that it exceeds the asset's net realizable value. Impairment losses are recognized in full in profit or loss. If in a subsequent period, the amount of accumulated impairment losses has decreased because of an event occurring after impairment was recognized, the decline is allowed to be reversed to profit or loss to the extent that the resulting carrying amount will not exceed the amortized cost determined had no impairment been recognized.

Investment in a Subsidiary

The Company's investment in a subsidiary is accounted for under the equity method of accounting. Under the equity method, the investment in a subsidiary is initially recognized at cost. The carrying amount of the investment is adjusted to recognize the Company's share in net income or loss of the investee arising after the date of acquisition. Distributions received in excess of such profits are regarded as recovery of investment and are recognized as a reduction of the cost of the investment.

A subsidiary is an entity in which the Company has control. Specifically, the Company controls an investee if the Company has:

- Power over the investee (i.e. existing rights that give it the current ability to direct the relevant activities of the investee);
- Exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee; and
- The ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns.

The Company reassesses whether or not it controls an investee if facts and circumstances indicate that there are changes to one or more of the three elements of control.

Impairment of Investment in a Subsidiary

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that investment in a subsidiary may be impaired when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset may not be recoverable. If any such indication exists and if the carrying amount exceeds the estimated recoverable amount, the investment in a subsidiary is written down to its recoverable amount, which is the greater of fair value less cost to sell and value in use. The fair value less cost to sell is the amount obtainable from the sale of the asset in an arm's length transaction. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to present value using a pretax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. For an asset that does not generate largely independent cash inflows, the recoverable amount is determined for the cash generating unit to which the asset belongs. Impairment losses are recognized in profit or loss.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognized impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. If such indication exists, the recoverable amount is estimated. A previously recognized impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognized. If that is the case, the carrying amount of the asset is increased to its recoverable amount. That increased amount cannot exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years.

Equity

Capital Stock. Capital stock is measured at par value for all shares issued.

Deficit. Deficit represents accumulated net loss of the Company.

Other Comprehensive Income (OCI). OCI comprises of items of income and expenses that are not recognized in profit or loss for the year in accordance with PFRS. OCI pertains to share in other comprehensive income of a subsidiary.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured.

Interest Income. Revenue is recognized as interest accrues using the effective interest method.

Expense Recognition

Expenses are recognized in profit or loss when a decrease in future economic benefit related to a decrease in an asset or an increase of a liability, other than those relating to distributions to equity participants, has arisen that can be measured reliably. Expenses are recognized as incurred.

Income Tax

Current Tax. Current tax is the expected tax payable on the taxable income or loss for the year, using tax rate and tax laws enacted or substantively enacted as of the reporting date, and any adjustment to tax payable in the previous years.

Deferred tax. Deferred tax is recognized using the liability method on differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and their corresponding tax bases. Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all temporary differences that are expected to increase taxable profit in the future. Deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences and carryforward benefits of unused net operating loss carryover (NOLCO), to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and carryforward benefits of unused tax losses can be utilized. Deferred tax assets are measured at the highest amount that, on the basis of current or estimated future taxable profit, is more likely than not to be recovered.

The net carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and is adjusted to reflect the current assessment of future taxable profits. Any adjustments are recognized in profit or loss.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at reporting date.

Current tax and deferred tax are recognized in the profit or loss except to the extent that it relates to a business combination, or items recognized directly in equity.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

Related Party Transactions and Balances

Parties are considered to be related if one party has the ability, directly or indirectly, to control the other party or exercise significant influence over the other party in making financial and operating decisions. Parties are also considered to be related if they are subject to common control or common significant influence. Related parties may be individuals or corporate entities.

Provisions

Provisions, if any, are recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pretax rate that reflects current market assessment of the time value of money and, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability.

Contingencies

Contingent liabilities are not recognized in the financial statements. They are disclosed in the notes to financial statements unless the possibility of an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits is remote. Contingent assets are not recognized in the financial statements but are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements when an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

Events After the Reporting Date

Post year-end events that provide additional information about the Company's financial position at the reporting date (adjusting events) are reflected in the financial statements when material. Post year-end events that are non-adjusting events are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements when material.

3. Significant Judgment, Accounting Estimate and Assumption

PFRS requires management to make judgment, estimate and assumption that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements. The judgment, estimate and assumption used in the financial statements are based upon management's evaluation of relevant facts and circumstances as at the reporting date. While the Company believes that the assumption are reasonable and appropriate, significant differences in the actual experience or significant changes in the assumption may materially affect the estimated amounts. Actual results could differ from such estimate.

Judgment

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgment, apart from those involving estimation, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the financial statements.

Establishing Control over BGRC. The Company determined that it has control over BGRC by considering, among others, its power over the investee, exposure or rights to variable returns from its involvement with the investee, and the ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns.

Accounting Estimate and Assumption

The key assumption concerning the future and other key source of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, is described below.

Assessing Realizability of Deferred Tax Assets. The Company reviews the carrying amounts of deferred tax assets at each reporting date and reduces deferred tax assets to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable income will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax assets to be utilized.

The Company's unrecognized deferred tax assets amounted to ₱0.1 million as at June 30, 2017 (see Note 6). Management assessed that it is not probable that the Company will have sufficient future taxable profits against which the NOLCO can be utilized before its expiration.

4. Investment in a Subsidiary

On May 22, 2017, the Company subscribed to 20,000,000 shares of BGRC at ₱1 per share and paid ₱6.2 million with unpaid subscription of ₱13.8 million.

On June 16, 2017, the Company acquired 20,000,000 shares from other stockholders for a total consideration of ₱18.7 million. On the same date, BGRC became a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company.

Movements in this account are as follows:

	June 30, 2017
Acquisition cost	₱24,999,991
Accumulated share in net earnings of a subsidiary:
Balance at beginning of the period	—
Share in net loss	(798,981)
Share in other comprehensive income	434,185,710
	433,386,729
Balance at end of year	₱458,386,720

Share in other comprehensive income pertains to the share in revaluation surplus on deferred exploration costs of BGRC.

The summarized financial information of BGRC is as follows:

	June 30, 2017
Total assets	₱694,888,462
Total liabilities	294,758,747
Net loss	(4,793,887)
Other comprehensive income	434,185,710

5. Related Party Transaction

In the normal course of business, the Company has the following related party transactions:

Related Parties	Nature of Transaction	June 30, 2017
		Transaction Amount	Outstanding Balance
Under common management
Marcventures Mining and Development Corporation (MMDC)	Advances for working capital	P288,267	P288,267
Subsidiary
BGRC	Advances for working capital	202,510	202,510
			P490,777

Outstanding balances at year end are unsecured, noninterest-bearing and payable on demand.

Compensation of Key Management Personnel

There is no key management compensation during the period. The Company's administrative and accounting functions are being handled by MMDC at no cost to the Company.

6. Income Taxes

There is no provision for income tax since the Company is in a tax loss position.

The Company will be subject to minimum corporate income tax after the fourth taxable year following the commencement of its operations.

The reconciliation of provision for income tax computed at the applicable statutory tax rate to provision for income tax shown in the statement of comprehensive income is as follows:

Loss computed at statutory tax rate	(P365,524)
Unrecognized deferred tax asset	107,436
Add (deduct) tax effects of:
Share in net loss of a subsidiary	239,694
Nondeductible expenses	18,523
Interest income subjected to final tax	(129)

Deferred tax asset on NOLCO amounting to P0.1 million has not been recognized because the management assessed that it is not probable that the Company will have sufficient future taxable profits against which the NOLCO can be utilized before its expiration.

As at June 30, 2017, NOLCO amounting to P0.4 million can be claimed as deduction from future taxable income until 2020.

7. Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company has risk management policies that systematically view the risks that could prevent the Company from achieving its objectives. These policies are intended to manage risks identified in such a way that opportunities to deliver the Company's objectives are achieved. The Company's risk management takes place in the context of normal business processes such as strategic planning and business planning.

Management has identified each risk and is responsible for coordinating and continuously improving risk strategies, processes and measures in accordance with the Company's established business objectives.

Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company's principal financial instruments consist of cash in bank and due to related parties. The primary purpose of these financial instruments is to finance the Company's operations. The main risks arising from the use of these financial instruments are credit risk and liquidity risk. Management reviews and approves the policies for managing each of these risks which are summarized below.

Credit Risk. Credit risk arising from the inability of counterparty to meet the terms of the Company's financial instrument is generally limited to the amount, if any, by which the counterparty's obligations exceed the obligation of the Company. With respect to credit risk arising from the financial assets of the Company, which comprise cash in bank, the Company's exposure to credit risk arises from default of the counterparty, with a maximum exposure equal to the carrying amount of these instruments.

Cash in bank is classified as high grade since these are deposited in reputable banks having good credit rating and low probability of insolvency.

Liquidity Risk. The Company manages liquidity risk by maintaining a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility. Treasury controls and procedures are in place to ensure that sufficient cash is maintained to cover working capital requirements. Management closely monitors the Company's future and contingent obligations and sets up required cash reserves and reserve borrowing facilities as necessary in accordance with internal policies.

Fair Value of Financial Assets and Financial Liability

Due to the short-term nature of transactions, the carrying amounts of the financial asset and liability approximate fair values at reporting period. The fair values have been categorized as Level 3 (significant unobservable inputs).

Capital Management

The Company's capital management objectives are to ensure the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and to provide an adequate return to shareholders by pricing products and services commensurate with the level of risk. The Company manages its capital structure and makes adjustments to it, in light of changes in economic conditions. To maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Company may return capital to shareholders, issue new shares or convert related party advances to an equity component item.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Asia Pilot Mining Phils. Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with PSA will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatement can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with PSA, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence and, where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information on Taxes in Notes 17 and 18 of the Notes to the Financial Statements in compliance with RR 15-2010 and RR 19-2011 of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the tabular schedule of standards and interpretation of the Securities and Exchange Commission are not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information have been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, are fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Note 2 – Basis of Preparation, Statement of Compliance and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Preparation

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared under the historical cost and other measurement basis provided for under the Standards. The financial statements are presented in Philippine Peso, the Company's functional and presentation currency.

Statement of Compliance

The accompanying financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with Philippine Financial Reporting Standards (PFRS). The term PFRS in general includes all applicable PFRS, Philippine Accounting Standards (PAS), interpretations of the Philippine Interpretations Committee (PIC), Standing Interpretations Committee (SIC) and International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee (IFRIC) which have been approved by the Financial Reporting Standards Council (FRSC) and adopted by SEC.

Presentation of Financial Statements

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position only when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognized amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or to realize the assets and settle the liability simultaneously. Income and expense are not offset in the statement of comprehensive income/loss unless required or permitted by any accounting standard or interpretation, and as specifically disclosed in the accounting policies of the Company.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with PFRS requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgment in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. Areas involving a higher degree of judgment or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimations are significant to the financial statements, are disclosed in Note 3.

Adoption of New and Revised Accounting Standards

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the previous financial years except for the adoption of the following new and amended standards and Philippine Interpretations. Adoption of these new and amended standards and interpretation did not have any effect on the financial performance or position of the Company. They did, however, give rise to additional disclosures.

- Amendment to PFRS 12, Clarification of the Scope of the Standard (Part of Annual Improvements to PFRSs 2014 - 2016 Cycle)

The amendments clarify that the disclosure requirements in PFRS 12, other than those relating to summarized financial information, apply to an entity's interest in a subsidiary, a joint venture or an associate (or a portion of its interest in a joint venture or an associate) that is classified (or included in a disposal group that is classified) as held for sale.

- Amendments to PFRS 7, Disclosure Initiative, changes in liabilities arising from financing activities:
 - a) An entity shall provide disclosures that enable users of financial statements to evaluate changes in liabilities arising from financing activities, including both changes arising from cash flows and non-cash changes.
 - b) An entity shall disclose the following changes in liabilities arising from financing activities: (a) changes from financing cash flows; (b) changes arising from obtaining or losing control of subsidiaries or other businesses; (c) the effect of changes in foreign exchange rates; (d) changes in fair values; and (e) other changes.
 - c) Liabilities arising from financing activities are liabilities for which cash flows were, or future cash flows will be, classified in the statement of cash flows as cash flows from financing activities. In addition, the disclosure requirement in paragraph 44A of the PAS 7 also applies to changes in financial assets (for example, assets that hedge liabilities arising from financing activities) if cash flows from those financial assets were, or future cash flows will be, included in cash flows from financing activities.
 - d) One way to fulfil the disclosure requirement in paragraph 44A of the PAS 7 is by providing a reconciliation between the opening and closing balances in the statement of financial position for liabilities arising from financing activities, including the changes identified in paragraph 44B of the PAS 7. Where an entity discloses such a reconciliation, it shall provide sufficient information to enable users of the financial statements to link items included in the reconciliation to the statement of financial position and the statement of cash flows.
 - e) If an entity provides the disclosure required by paragraph 44A in combination with disclosures of changes in other assets and liabilities, it shall disclose the changes in liabilities arising from financing activities separately from changes in those other assets and liabilities
- Amendments on PFRS 12, Income Taxes, recognition of Deferred Tax assets for Unrealised Losses clarify the following changes:
 - a) Unrealised losses on debt instruments measured at fair value and measured at cost for tax purposes give rise to a deductible temporary difference regardless of whether the debt instrument's holder expects to recover the carrying amount of the debt instrument by sale or by use.
 - b) The carrying amount of an asset does not limit the estimation of probable future taxable profits.

- c) Estimates for future taxable profits exclude tax deductions resulting from the reversal of deductible temporary differences.
- d) An entity assesses a deferred tax asset in combination with other deferred tax assets. Where tax law restricts the utilization of tax losses, an entity would assess a deferred tax asset in combination with other deferred tax assets of the same type.

Amendments on PFRS 12 are specifically the following:

- a) Paragraph 27A - When an entity assesses whether taxable profits will be available against which it can utilise a deductible temporary difference, it considers whether tax law restricts the sources of taxable profits against which it may make deductions on the reversal of that deductible temporary difference. If tax law imposes no such restrictions, an entity assesses a deductible temporary difference in combination with all of its other deductible temporary differences. However, if tax law restricts the utilisation of losses to deduction against income of a specific type, a deductible temporary difference is assessed in combination only with other deductible temporary differences of the appropriate type.
- b) Paragraph 29 - Compares the deductible temporary differences with future taxable profit that excludes tax deductions resulting from the reversal of those deductible temporary differences. This comparison shows the extent to which the future taxable profit is sufficient for the entity to deduct the amounts resulting from the reversal of those deductible temporary differences.
- c) Paragraph 29A - The estimate of probable future taxable profit may include the recovery of some of an entity's assets for more than their carrying amount if there is sufficient evidence that it is probable that the entity will achieve this. For example, when an asset is measured at fair value, the entity shall consider whether there is sufficient evidence to conclude that it is probable that the entity will recover the asset for more than its carrying amount. This may be the case, for example, when an entity expects to hold a fixed-rate debt instrument and collect the contractual cash flows.
- d) Paragraph 98G - Recognition of Deferred Tax Assets for Unrealised Losses (Amendments to IAS 12), issued in January 2016, amended paragraph 29 and added paragraphs 27A, 29A and the example following paragraph 26. An entity shall apply those amendments for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017. If an entity applies those amendments for an earlier period, it shall disclose that fact. An entity shall apply those amendments retrospectively in accordance with IAS 8 Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors. However, on initial application of the amendment, the change in the opening equity of the earliest comparative period may be recognised in opening retained earnings (or in another component of equity, as appropriate), without allocating the change between opening retained earnings and other components of equity.

New or Revised Standards, Amendments to Standards and Interpretations Not Yet Adopted

A number of new standards, amendments to standards and interpretations are effective for annual periods beginning after January 1, 2018, and have not been applied in preparing these financial statements. Except as otherwise indicated, the Company does not expect the adoption of these new and amended PFRS, PAS and Philippine Interpretations from International Financial Reporting Interpretation Committee (IFRIC) to have significant impact on its financial statements.

The Company will adopt the following new or revised standards, amendments to standards and interpretations in the respective effective dates:

To be Adopted on January 1, 2018

- PFRS 9, Financial Instruments: Classification and Measurements reflects the first phase on the replacement of PAS 39 and applies to classification and measurement of financial assets and financial liabilities as defined in PAS 39. The standard is effective for annual periods beginning on or before January 1, 2018. Work on impairment of financial instruments and hedge accounting is still ongoing, with a view to replacing PAS 39 in its entirety. The adoption of the first phase of PFRS 9 will have an effect on the classification and measurement of the Company's financial assets, but will potentially have no impact on the classification and measurement of financial liabilities. The Company will quantify the effect in conjunction with the other phases, when issued, to present a comprehensive picture.

To be Adopted on January 1, 2019

- PFRS 16, Leases sets out the principles for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of lease for both parties to a contract, i.e. the customer ('lessee') and the supplier ('lessor'). PFRS 16 is effective from January 1, 2019. A company can choose to apply IFRS 16 before that date but only if it also applies PFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers. PFRS 16 replaces the previous leases Standards, PAS 17 Leases, and the related Interpretations. Recognition comprises the following:
 - a) Lessees – all leases result in a company (the lessee) obtaining the right to use an asset at the start of the lease and if, lease payments are made over time, also obtaining financing. Accordingly, PFRS 16 eliminates the classification of leases as either operating leases or finance leases as is required by PAS 17 and, instead, introduces a single lessee accounting model. Applying that model, a lessee is required to recognise: (a) assets and liabilities for all leases with a term of more than 12 months, unless the underlying asset is of low value; and (b) depreciation of lease assets separately from interest on lease liabilities in the income statement.
 - b) Lessors - PFRS 16 substantially carries forward the lessor accounting requirements in PAS 17. Accordingly, a lessor continues to classify its leases as operating leases or finance leases and to account for those two types of leases differently.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Financial Instruments

Financial instruments are recognized in the statement of financial position when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace are recognized on the trade date – the date on which The Company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Financial instruments are recognized initially at fair value of the consideration given (in the case of an asset) or received (in the case of a liability). Except for financial assets at fair value through profit or loss (FVPL), the initial measurement of financial assets includes transaction costs. Financial assets under PAS 39 are classified as either financial assets at FVPL, loans and receivables, held to maturity investments and AFS investments. The financial assets of the Company are of the nature of loans and receivables. Also under PAS 39, financial liabilities are classified as FVPL or other financial liabilities. The Company's financial liabilities are of the nature of other financial liabilities.

Financial Assets and Liabilities

Financial assets include cash and financial instruments. The Company classifies its financial assets, other than hedging instruments, into the following categories: financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, loans and receivables, held to maturity investments and available for sale financial assets. Financial assets are assigned to the different categories by management on initial recognition, depending on the purpose for which the investments were acquired. The designation of financial assets is re-evaluated at every reporting date at which date a choice of classification or accounting treatment is available, subject to compliance with specific provisions of applicable accounting standards.

Determination of Fair Value

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- in the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- in the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible to the Company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a nonfinancial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

Assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorized within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;

Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable; and

Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognized in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between Levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

The Company determines the policies and procedures for both recurring and non-recurring fair value measurements. For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy.

The Company recognizes transfers into and transfers out of fair value hierarchy levels by reassessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) as at the date of the event or change in circumstances that caused the transfer.

"Day 1" Difference. Where the transaction price in a non-active market is different from the fair value of other observable current market transactions in the same instrument or based on a valuation technique whose variables include only data from observable market, the Company recognizes the difference between the transaction price and fair value (a "Day 1" difference) in the statement of income/loss unless it qualifies for recognition as some other type of asset or liability. In cases where use is made of data which is not observable, the difference between the transaction price and model value is only recognized in the statement of income/loss when the inputs become observable or when the instrument is derecognized. For each transaction, the Company determines the appropriate method of recognizing the "Day 1" difference amount.

Cash

Cash includes cash on hand and in banks. Cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash with original maturities of three months or less from the date of placement and that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value.

Other Financial Liabilities

Issued financial instruments or their components, which are not designated at FVPL, are classified as other financial liabilities when the substance of the contractual arrangement results in the Company having an obligation either to deliver cash or another financial asset to the holder, or to satisfy the obligation other than by the exchange of a fixed amount of cash or another financial asset for a fixed number of own equity shares. The components of issued financial instruments that contain both liability and equity elements are accounted for separately, with the equity component being assigned the residual amount after deducting from the instrument as a whole, the amount separately determined as the fair value of the liability component on the date of issue. After initial measurement, other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized costs using the effective interest rate method. Any effects of restatement of foreign currency denominated liabilities are recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss. This accounting policy applies primarily on the Company's borrowings, accounts payable and other obligations that meet the above definition (other than liabilities covered by other accounting standards, such as income tax payable).

All loans and borrowings are initially recognized at the fair value of the consideration received plus directly attributable transaction costs. The fair value of the interest bearing long term debt is based on the discounted value of future cash flows using the applicable rates for similar types of loans. For floating rate long term debt which is priced monthly, the carrying value approximates the fair value because of recent and regular repricing based on current market rates. For floating rate long term debt, which is repriced semi-annually, the fair value is determined by discounting the principal amount plus the next interest payment using the prevailing market rate for the period up to the next repricing date.

After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective method. Amortized cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on the issue and fees that are an integral part of the effective interest rate. Gains and losses are recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss when the liabilities are derecognized as well as through the amortization process.

For the current year, the Company has no outstanding loans and borrowings bearing interest.

Receivables, payables and other basic financial instruments

Initial measurement. Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at the transaction price including transaction costs except in the initial measurement of financial assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction. If the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction, the financial instruments are measured at the present value of the future payments discounted at a market rate of interest for a similar debt instrument.

Measurement subsequent to initial recognition. Debt instruments are measured at amortized costs using the effective interest method. Debt instruments classified as current assets or current liabilities are measured at the undiscounted amount of the cash or other consideration expected to be received or paid unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction. If the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction, the Company shall measure the debt instrument at the present value of the future payments discounted at the market rate of interest for a similar debt instrument.

For investments in non-convertible preference shares and non-puttable ordinary or preference shares like publicly traded shares or shares whose fair value can be measured reliably, the instruments are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in profit or loss while all other investments are measured at cost less impairment.

Impairment of Financial Assets

Assets Carried at Amortized Cost

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether a financial or group of financial assets is impaired. If there is objective evidence that an impairment loss on financial assets carried at amortized cost (e.g., receivables) has been incurred, the amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the assets' carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the asset's original effective interest rate. The carrying amount of the asset is reduced through use of allowance account. The amount of the loss shall be recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss.

The Company first assesses whether its objective evidence of impairment, such as aging of assets and/or status of debtors, exists individually for financial assets that are individually significant, and individually or collectively for financial assets that are not individually significant. If it is determined that no objective of impairment exists for an individually assessed financial asset, whether significant or not, the asset is included in a group of financial asset with similar credit risk characteristics and that group of financial assets is collectively assessed for impairment.

Assets that are individually assessed for impairment and for which an impairment loss is or continues to be recognized are not included in a collective assessment of impairment. If, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss is reversed. Any subsequent reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss, to the extent that the carrying value of the asset does not exceed its amortized cost at the reversal date.

With respect to receivables, the Company maintains a provision for impairment of receivables at a level considered adequate to provide for potential uncollectible receivables. The level of this provision is evaluated by management on the basis of factors that affect the collectibility of the accounts. A review of the age and status of receivables, designed to identify accounts to be provided with allowance, is performed regularly.

Reversal of impairment. If in a subsequent period, the amount of an impairment loss decreased and it can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the Company reverses the previously recognized impairment loss either directly or by adjusting an allowance account.

However, the reversal shall not result in a carrying amount of the financial asset net of any allowance account that exceeds what the carrying amount would have been had the impairment not previously been recognized. The Company recognizes the amount of the reversal in profit or loss immediately.

Fair value measurement. The Company uses the following hierarchy to estimate the fair value of the financial assets in the form of shares: 1. quoted price for an identical asset in an active market or current bid price; 2. price of a recent transaction for an identical asset; 3. valuation technique; 4. current fair value of another substantially the same asset; 5. discounted cash flow analysis; and 6. option pricing models.

If a reliable measure of fair value is no longer available for an asset measured at fair value, its carrying amount at the last date the asset was reliably measurable becomes its new cost. The Company measures the asset at this cost amount less impairment until a reliable measure of fair value becomes available.

Derecognition of Financial Instruments

Financial Asset

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a Company of financial assets) is derecognized where:

- the rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired;
- The Company retains the right to receive cash flows from the asset, but has assumed an obligation to pay them in full without material delay to a third party under a "pass-through" arrangement; or
- The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset and either (a) has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) has neither transferred nor retained the risk and rewards of the asset but has transferred the control of the asset.

Where the Company has transferred its right to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into pass-through arrangement and has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset nor transferred control of the asset, the asset is recognized to the extent of the Company's continuing involvement in the asset.

Financial Liability

A financial liability is derecognized when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expired. Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability, and the difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss.

Offsetting

Financial assets and liabilities are only offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognized amounts and the Company intends to either settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Investment in Subsidiary

Prior to January 1, 2017, the Company accounts for its investment in a subsidiary using the cost method in its separate financial statements. However following changes in PFRS 27, Equity Method in separate financial statements was now adopted by the management.

The management believes that the change to equity method gives fairer presentation to the financial statements of the Company as it allows to reflect the right amount of the Investment in Subsidiary of a company. Prospective application was applied instead of that retrospective due to that immaterial amounts will affect the retained earnings that it will be more efficient to apply the equity method prospectively.

The amount adjusted for the Investment in Subsidiary account using equity method is as follows

	6/30/2017	12/31/2016
Balance at beginning of year
Alumina Mining Philippines, Inc. (AMPI)	11,249,500	11,249,500
Bauxite Resources, Inc. (BRI)	24,997,500	24,997,500
Additions
Revaluation of Mine and Mining Properties of AMPI	278,961,863	-
Revaluation of Mine and Mining Properties of BRI	299,212,650	-
	614,421,513	36,247,000

Under the equity method, an investment in subsidiary is initially recognized in the statement of financial position at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Company's share of the profit or loss of the subsidiary after the acquisition date. Distributions received from a subsidiary reduce the carrying amount of the investment. Adjustments to the carrying amount may also be necessary for changes in the company's proportionate interest in the subsidiary arising from changes in the subsidiary's other comprehensive income. Such changes include those arising from the revaluation of property, plant and equipment and from foreign exchange translation differences.

When the Company's share of losses of an subsidiary exceeds the Company's interest in that subsidiary, the Company discontinues recognizing its share of further losses. Additional losses are recognized only to the extent that the Company has incurred legal and constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the subsidiary. If the subsidiary subsequently reports profits, the company resumes recognizing its share of those profits only after its share of the profits equals the share of losses not recognized.

The requirements of PAS 39 are applied to determine whether it is necessary to recognize any impairment loss with respect to the Company's investment in subsidiary. When necessary, the entire carrying amount of the investment (including goodwill) is tested for impairment in accordance with PAS 36 Impairment of Assets as a single asset by comparing its recoverable amount (higher of value in use and fair value less costs of disposal) with its carrying amount. Any impairment loss recognized in accordance with PAS 36 to the extent that the recoverable amount of that the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases.

Subsidiary is an entity controlled by the Company. Control is defined as the exposure or rights to variable returns from its involvement with the subsidiary and the ability to affect those returns through its power over the subsidiary. Specifically, the Company controls an investee if and only if the Company has:

- Power over the investee (i.e. existing rights that give it the current ability to direct the relevant activities of the investee);
- Exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee; and
- The ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns.

When the Company has less than majority of the voting or similar rights of an investee, the Company considers all relevant facts and circumstances in assessing whether it has power over an investee, including:

- The contractual arrangement with the other vote holders of the investee;
- Rights arising from other contractual arrangement; and
- The Company's voting rights and potential voting rights.

The Company reassesses whether or not it controls an investee if facts and circumstances indicate that there are changes to one or more of the three elements of control.

An assessment of the carrying amount of the investment in a subsidiary is performed when there is an indication that these investments have been impaired.

Revaluation of Asset

Under revaluation, asset is carried at revalued amount, being its fair value at the date of revaluation less subsequent depreciation and impairment, provided that fair value can be measured reliably.

If a revaluation results in an increase in value, it should be credited to other comprehensive operation and accumulated in equity under the heading "revaluation surplus" unless it represents the reversal of a revaluation decrease of the same asset previously recognized as an expense, in which case it should be recognized in profit or loss.

A decrease arising as a result of a revaluation should be recognized as an expense to the extent that it exceeds any amount previously credited to the revaluation surplus relating to the same asset.

When a revalued asset is disposed of, any revaluation surplus may be transferred directly to retained earnings, or it may be left in equity under the heading revaluation surplus. The transfer to retained earnings should not be made through profit or loss.

The Company recognized revaluation surplus from its share in its subsidiaries due to the application of equity method of accounting for investment in subsidiaries.

Impairment of Nonfinancial Assets

Nonfinancial assets are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. If any such indication exists and where the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset or cash-generating unit is written down to its recoverable amount. The estimated recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's net selling price and value in use. The net selling price is the amount obtainable from the sale of an asset in an arm's length transaction less the costs of disposals while value in use is the present value of estimated future cash flows expected to arise from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life. For an asset that does not generate largely independent cash inflows, the recoverable amount is determined for the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Impairment losses are recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss.

Recovery and impairment losses recognized in prior years are recorded when there is indication that the impairment losses recognized for the asset no longer exist or have decreased. The recovery is recorded in the statement of comprehensive loss. However, the increased carrying amount of an asset due to a recovery of an impairment loss is recognized to the extent that it does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of depletion, depreciation and amortization) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years.

Income Taxes

Current Income Tax

Current tax assets and liabilities for the current and prior periods are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the tax authority. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred Income Tax

Deferred income tax liability is provided, using the statement of financial position liability method, on all temporary differences at the reporting date between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred income tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences, including asset revaluations. Deferred income tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences, carryforward benefits of unused tax credits from excess minimum corporate income tax (MCIT) and unused net operating loss carryover (NOLCO), to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and carryforward benefits of unused tax credits from excess MCIT and unused NOLCO can be utilized. Deferred income tax, however, is not recognized when it arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit.

The carrying amount of deferred income tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred income tax asset to be utilized. Unrecognized deferred income tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred income tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rate expected to apply to the period when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Expense Recognition

Expenses are decreases in economic benefits during the accounting period in the form of outflows or depletions in assets or incurrence of liabilities that result in decrease in equity, other than those relating to distributions to equity participants. Costs and expenses are recognized in the period these were incurred.

Cost and expenses are recognized in the income statement upon consumption of the goods and /or utilization of the service or at the date they are incurred. Expenditure for warranties if any is recognized and charged against the associated provision when the related revenue is recognized.

Administrative Expenses

These expenses constitute costs of administering the company's day-to-day operation and are recognized when incurred and includes rental and taxes and licenses.

Related Party Transactions and Relationships

Related party relationship exists when one party has the ability to control, directly or indirectly through one or more of the intermediaries, the other party or exercise significant influence over the other party in making financial and operating decisions. Such relationships also exist between and/or among entities which are under common control with the reporting enterprise, or between and/or among the reporting enterprise and its key management personnel, directors, or its shareholders. Transactions between related parties are accounted for at arm's length prices or on terms similar to those offered to non-related entities in an economically comparable market.

In considering each possible related party relationship, attention is directed to the substance of the relationship and not merely the legal form.

Foreign Currency Transactions

Functional and Presentation Currency

Items included in the financial statements of the Company are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the Company operates (the 'functional currency'). The financial statements are presented in Philippine Pesos which is the Company's functional and presentation currency.

Functional currency is the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates or in which it primarily generates and expends cash, while presentation currency is the currency in which the financial statements are presented.

Transactions and Balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into Philippine Peso using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Outstanding foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rate prevailing at reporting date. Foreign exchange gains or losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions or realized gain or loss and from the translation of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency or unrealized gain or loss is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income/loss.

Capital Shares

Common shares are classified as equity.

Equity instruments are measured at the fair value of the cash or other resources received or receivable.

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new shares or options are shown in equity as a deduction from proceeds. The excess of proceeds from issuance of share over par value of share are credited to share premium.

If payment is deferred and the time value of the money is material, the initial measurement is on a present value system.

Where the Company purchases its own shares (treasury shares), the consideration paid including any directly attributable incremental costs is deducted from equity until the shares are cancelled, reissued or disposed of. Where such shares are subsequently sold or reissued, any consideration received, net of any directly attributable incremental transaction costs and the related income tax effects, is included in equity.

Contingencies

Contingent liabilities are not recognized in the financial statements. They are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements unless the possibility of an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits is remote. Contingent assets are not recognized in the financial statements but are disclosed in the notes to financial statements when an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

Events After the Reporting Date

Post year-end events that provide additional information about The Company's position at the reporting date (adjusting events) are reflected in the financial statements. Post year-end events that are not adjusting events are disclosed in the notes to financial statements when material.

Note 3 – Summary of Significant Accounting Judgments, Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of the financial statements in accordance with PFRS requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect amounts reported in the financial statements and related notes. The estimates and assumptions used in the financial statements are based upon management's evaluation of relevant facts and circumstances as of the date of The Company's financial statements. Future events may occur which will cause the assumptions used in arriving at the estimates to change. The effects of any change in estimates are reflected in the financial statements as they become reasonably determinable.

Judgments

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgments, apart from those involving estimations, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the financial statements.

Determining Functional Currency

Based on the economic substance of the underlying circumstances relevant to the functional currency of the Company has been determined to be the Philippine Pesos. The Philippine Pesos is the currency of the primary economic environment in which the Company operates. It is the currency that mainly influences the revenues and expenses of the Company. Since the Company's financial reports are stated in Philippine Pesos, fluctuations in exchange rates of this currency will not materially affect the stated balances in the statement of financial position.

Classification of Financial Instruments

The Company exercises judgements in classifying a financial instrument, or its component parts, on initial recognition either as a financial asset, a financial liability or an equity instrument in accordance with the substance of the contractual agreement and the definitions of a financial asset, a financial liability or an equity instrument. The substance of a financial instrument, rather than its legal form, governs its classification in the statement of financial position.

The Company determines the classification of financial instruments at initial recognition and re-evaluates this designation at every reporting date.

Establishing Control over Subsidiaries. The Company determined that it has control over its subsidiaries by considering, among others, its power over the investee, exposure or rights to variable returns from its involvement with the investee, and the ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns. The following are also considered:

- the contractual arrangement with the other vote holders of the investee
- rights arising from other contractual agreements
- the Company's voting rights and potential voting rights

Going Concern

The Company's management has made an assessment of the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and assessed that there is uncertainty about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern since it entered into a merger agreement as stated in the Note 1 of the Notes to Financial Statements. However, the merger is still for pending approval of the shareholders. Therefore, the financial statements were prepared on a going concern basis.

Estimates and Assumptions

The financial statements prepared in compliance with PFRS require management to make estimates and assumptions that affect amounts reported in the financial statements and related notes. The estimates and assumptions used in the financial statements are based upon management's evaluation of relevant facts and circumstances as of the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from such estimates.

Determination of Fair Value of Financial Assets and Liabilities

Where the fair value of financial instruments recorded in the statement of financial position cannot be derived from active markets, their fair value is determined using valuation techniques including the discounted cash flow model. The inputs to these models are taken from the observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values. The judgement includes considerations of inputs such as liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Changes in assumptions about these factors affect the reported fair value of financial instruments. The assumptions used to estimate the fair value of financial assets and liabilities are described in Note 14.

Impairment of Investment in a Subsidiaries. The Company assesses impairment on its investment in a subsidiaries whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may be recoverable.

Among others, the factors that the Company considers important which could trigger an impairment review on its investment in a subsidiary include the following:

- Deteriorating or poor financial condition
- Recurring net losses; and
- Significant changes (i.e. technological, market, economic, or legal environment in which the subsidiary operates) with an adverse effect on the subsidiary have taken place during the period, or will take place in the near future.

The Company's investment in subsidiaries amounted to ₱614,421,513 and ₱36,247,000 as of June 30, 2017 and December 31, 2016.

Estimation of Realizable Amount of Deferred Tax Assets

The Company carries in its books the amount of deferred tax assets based on tax rates applicable. However, based on experience, the Company doesn't generate enough taxable profit on which to apply the taxes. In the event that in the succeeding years the Company will not generate income, then the whole amount of deferred tax assets will be charged to profit and loss.

Deferred tax asset arising from NOLCO have not been recognized as June 30, 2017 and December 31, 2016 because the management believes that it is not probable that future taxable income will be available against which the Company can utilize the benefits therefrom.

Note 15 – Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company's financial instruments comprise of cash, advances to affiliates.

The main risks arising from the Company's financial instruments are:

- Credit risk
- Liquidity risk
- Interest rate risk

The Board of Directors (BOD) has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of the risk management framework of the Company. The risk management policies are established to identify and analyze the risks faced by the Company, to set appropriate risk limits and controls, and to monitor risks and adherence to limits. Risk management policies and systems are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions and activities of the Company. The Company's BOD and management review and agree on the policies for managing each of these risks as summarized below:

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will fail to discharge and perform obligation and cause the other party to incur a financial loss.

The Company's credit risks are primarily attributable to and other financial assets of the Company. To manage credit risks, the Company maintains defined credit policies and monitors its exposure to credit risks on a continuous basis. The Company adheres to fixed limits and guidelines in its dealings with counterparty banks. Bank limits are established on the basis of an internal rating system that principally covers the areas of liquidity, capital adequacy and financial stability. Given the high credit standing of its accredited counterparty banks, management does not expect any of these financial institutions to fail in meeting their obligations. Nevertheless, the Company closely monitors developments over counterparty banks and adjusts its exposure accordingly while adhering to pre-set limits. The exposure to credit risk arises from default of the counterparty, with a maximum exposure equal to the carrying amounts of these instruments.

The Company's maximum exposures to credit risks arising from financial instruments are shown in the following table:

	Note(s)	Gross Maximum Exposure
		June 30, 2017	December 31, 2016
Cash	4	39,520	39,520
Advances to affiliates	5	62,983,000	62,983,000
		63,022,520	63,022,520

The following tables provide the credit quality of the Company's financial assets that are neither past due nor impaired and past due or impaired.

June 30, 2017
Neither Past Due nor Impaired
	High Grade	Standard	Total
Cash	39,520		39,520
Advances to affiliates		62,983,000	62,983,000
	39,520	62,983,000	63,022,520

December 31, 2016
Neither Past Due nor Impaired
	High Grade	Standard	Total
Cash	39,520		39,520
Advances to affiliates		62,983,000	62,983,000
	39,520	62,983,000	63,022,520

The credit quality of the financial assets was determined as follows:

- Cash is classified as "High Grade" since cash is placed in high profile banking institutions with good credit rating and bank standing.
- The Company rates credit quality of advances to affiliates as standard because the counterparties have an average credit risk rating.

For assets to be classified as 'past due and impaired', contractual payments in arrears are more than one (1) year. The Company operates mainly on a 'neither past due nor impaired basis' and when evidence is available an impairment assessment will also be performed, if applicable.

Overall, the Company considers cash as high grade and standard grade accounts of good quality.

The maximum amount that best represents credit risk on financial assets pertain to their carrying amounts of ₱63,022,520 as of June 30, 2017 and December 31, 2016, respectively. The financial effect to The Company pertaining to its exposure to credit risk is not significant given its strategy to mitigate risks.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk arises when there is a shortage of funds and the Company, as a consequence, could not meet its maturing obligations. The Company seeks to manage its liquid funds through cash planning on a monthly basis. The Company uses historical experiences and forecasts from its collection and disbursement. As part of its liquidity risk management, the Company regularly evaluates its projected and actual cash flows. It also continuously assesses conditions in the financial markets for opportunities to pursue fund raising activities. Also, the Company only places funds in the money market which are exceeding the Company's requirements. Placements are strictly made based on cash planning assumptions and covers only a short period of time.

The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of advances from related parties. The Company considers its available funds and its liquidity in managing its long-term financial requirements. For its short-term funding, the Company's policy is to ensure that there are sufficient capital inflows to match repayments of short-term debt.

The Company maintains active credit facilities with creditors and banks to increase availability of funds. Furthermore, the Company manages liquidity risk by forecasting projected cash flows and maintaining a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility. Treasury procedures and controls are in place to ensure that sufficient cash is maintained to cover operational and working capital requirements. Management closely monitors future and contingent obligations of the entity.

The table below summarizes the maturity profile of the Company's financial liabilities as of June 30, 2017 based on contractual undiscounted payments.
